Official Information Act request

Thank you for your information request dated 14 November 2023. You asked for the following information:

“Both the Labour Party and National Party indicated throughout the recent election campaign the need for government departments to implement fiscal savings going forward.

Please provide the following:

- 1. What measures have your department already implemented or intend to implement in order to meet the above expectations*
- 2. Please break this down by political party, financial costs, and employment measures.*
- 3. Please provide any correspondence shared with staff and external stakeholders in relation to the above measures.*

Please note: In relation to each of these requests, this information should include all documents of any nature, including but not limited to any correspondence, text messages, memos, notes and advisory notes, and emails relating to these matters”.

Your request has been considered in accordance with the Official Information Act 1982 (the Act).

Six documents have been identified in scope of your request. The documents and my decisions regarding the release of the information are set out in the table attached as Appendix A.

Your first question is answered through information included in the six attachments. In summary Te Puni Kōkiri has implemented a '10 point plan' to drive the cost saving measures required by the previous government (2% or $11M). We anticipate additional savings will need to be found once the new government confirms their priorities.

The documents in appendix A include correspondence to all staff, outlining information about the known fiscal savings that are required to be made by Te Puni Kōkiri and details of the immediate 10-point cost savings measures which have been implemented.

As the information you have requested in question 2, that relates to the breakdown of fiscal savings by political party does not exist, we refuse this part under section 18(e) of the Act.

I trust my response satisfies your request.

You have the right to seek an investigation and review by the Ombudsman of this response. Information about how to make a complaint is available at www.ombudsman.parliament.nz or freephone 0800 802 602.

Please note that Te Puni Kōkiri publishes some of its OIA responses on its website, after the response is sent to the requester. The responses published are those that are considered to have a high level of public interest. We will not publish your name, address or contact details.

If you wish to discuss any aspect of your request with us, including this decision, please feel free to contact us at oia@tpk.govt.nz.

A thing done right endures

Yesterday morning Dave shared his reflections on our whakapapa as an organisation and what might come our way over the next few months.

Out of Scope

As we approach this year's General Election, especially with ongoing financial constraints, we need to remind ourselves of why we exist, our vision and our role in Aotearoa New Zealand. This is particularly important when we find ourselves operating in spaces that are not always comfortable.

By staying connected to our purpose, through change and uncertainty, we continue to ensure whānau can stand, thrive and belong.

Dave left us with a handful of take-away messages:

- Change is a constant
- Our history has been one of resilience
- History shows us that we have continued to successfully adapt to our environment
- We must stay connected to our purpose

We know that the election is likely to bring further change. Our role is to serve the government of the day, and we will continue to operate as politically neutral public servants. Regardless of the outcome, we will display our resilience, and we will adapt. We will hold on to our vision, purpose and our role and continue to deliver on the promise of the Treaty, signed long ago.

A big thanks to all staff who asked pātai. Here is a quick summary:

- Will TPK exist if there is a change in government? Māori, Dave suggested, are not going anywhere. TPK is enshrined in legislation and that would need to be repealed. History shows us that TPK is an adaptive Ministry, and we will serve the government of the day.
- Should we worry about job cuts? Dave indicated he was confident the immediate savings we need to make (2% or $11M) will not impact on current personnel.

Financial constraints

Earlier this month, I spoke with you all about change, our history of resilience and our ability to successfully adapt to our environment.

Te Puni Kōkiri operates in an exposed space with very high expectations placed on us – we know this is not new, but we always rise to whatever challenge comes our way.

The challenge we constantly face is change. We see change internally, for example in policy decisions, or externally with the cost-of-living pressures and extreme weather events.

The challenge we find ourselves in today is Government's fiscal sustainability and constraints – both the known and unknown.

You'll be aware from my kōrero and from what's been in the news, we have been asked by Government to find 2% or $11 million in savings per annum here at Te Puni Kōkiri.

ELT has identified and agreed to some immediate savings that will help us meet this requirement.

Financial delegations, travel, vehicle use, contractor spend, tighter recruitment decisions and remuneration are the key areas we're looking to make immediate changes.

It's expected that we will be required to offer further cost savings beyond 2% and will be looking at some medium- and long-term cost savings balanced against the need to continue to deliver for whānau today and into the future.

This is in no way a reflection on the quality of our work, importance of our kaupapa or our kaimahi. Other agencies have been asked to do a similar exercise.

We'll share more information about where we are making savings, as well as some FAQs for kaimahi on Te Pū Matua next week.

I understand that change can be unsettling for some of our Te Puni Kōkiri whānau so please, reach out to your manager, and if you need, make use of our EAP services.

I am confident that by standing together, we will weather this, as we've done before, and as we'll do in the future.

Mauria te pono,
Dave

Our fiscal sustainability - further information

In last week's pānui, Dave shared with kaimahi that we have been asked by Government to find 2% or $11 million in savings per annum.

We promised to provide further information on where these savings are coming from and answer some questions you may have. Please take some time to read the attached Cost Saving Measures and FAQs to understand how our approach may impact the way we carry out our mahi.

Te Puni Kōkiri operates in an exposed space with very high expectations placed on us – we know this is not new, but we always rise to whatever challenge comes our way.

The challenge we constantly face is change. We see change internally, for example in policy decisions, or externally with the cost-of-living pressures and extreme weather events.

The challenge we find ourselves in today is Government's fiscal sustainability and constraints – both the known and unknown.

We have identified, and ELT has agreed to, some immediate savings that will help us meet this requirement. Attached you will find the list of cost saving measures, that are effective immediately.

In considering the savings options, ELT has considered the need to preserve our workforce capability to ensure delivery of our strategy and meeting our essential and legislative compliance requirements.

It's expected that we will be required to offer further cost savings beyond 2% and will be looking at some medium- and long-term cost savings balanced against the need to continue to deliver for whānau today and into the future.

26 Mahuru - ELT has agreed to the following cost saving measures:

- The centralisation of all uncommitted contractor and consultant budgets. If you are to engage contractors and consultants, this will need to be approved and signed by two Deputy Secretaries, one of whom must be Deputy Secretary SFP (delegations beyond Deputy Secretaries will still need to progress through governance to ELT for approval).
- A recruitment pause for all roles that are not under active recruitment. Associated funding will be centralised as per our current process.
- To ensure critical roles can still be recruited to, approval will be required from two Deputy Secretaries, one of whom must be Deputy Secretary OS.
- The approval to create new roles outside of current establishment will be required from two Deputy Secretaries, one of whom must be Deputy Secretary OS.
- Any out of cycle remuneration increases to be approved by ELT.
- All international travel will require ELT endorsement prior to CE approval.
- The use of flexi-fares to be used when attending external events only, and can only be approved by Deputy Secretaries. If you are attending internal events/ hui, only regular fares are permitted.
- Any event (including internal hui) where total costs are likely to exceed $10k (including travel, venue hire, catering, and any other costs) to be approved by two Deputy Secretaries, one of whom must be the Deputy Secretary SFP.
- Restrict vehicle "allocation" to Regional Directors and Deputy Secretaries only. Pre-approval of all other allocations and associated Fringe Benefit Tax (FBT) by the responsible Deputy Secretary.
- Lift all financial delegations to Deputy Secretaries and Directors only.

Financial Sustainability Paper - FAQs

1. What decisions have ELT made? You'll be aware from Dave's kōrero and from what's been in the news, we have been asked by Government to find 2% or $11 million per annum in savings. ELT has identified, and agreed to some immediate savings that will help us meet this requirement. Please refer to the list of Cost Saving Measures, that are effective immediately. ELT wanted to let our staff know about these decisions immediately so we can face them together.
2. Our work is important, why do we have to find savings? This is no reflection on the importance of our kaupapa or the work you do. It is an all of Government exercise that Government agencies have been asked to do.
3. How much money are we talking? We have been asked by the PSC to find 2% ($11M per annum) of savings across TPK immediately. Other agencies have been asked to find savings in their budgets too.
4. Will people lose their jobs? Based on our initial assessments, we are confident we can find this immediate saving without any impact on our permanent kaimahi numbers. We will look to other avenues before looking to make cost savings from divesting permanent kaimahi.
5. Where are the savings coming from? Financial delegations, travel, vehicle use, contractor spend, tighter recruitment decisions and remuneration are the key areas we're looking to make immediate changes. It's so important that we work as a collective to address the changes we need to make together.
6. Is this a recruitment pause? We have agreed to a recruitment pause for all roles that are not under active recruitment and will move to a more prioritised approach of recruiting roles only defined as "critical" roles. If you want to know more about what a "critical" role is, please speak with your manager in the first instance.
7. What does this mean for Tier 4 leaders? All financial delegations now sit with your Tier 3. Some delegations will be held by ELT only. Any vacancies that are not actively being recruited for will be put on hold.
8. Is this about lack of trust in kaimahi to spend money wisely? No. Your ELT has absolute confidence that all kaimahi are here because they believe in the kaupapa. This is simply a measure to ensure we can continue to deliver for whānau over a period of fiscal restraint affecting all of Aotearoa.
9. Is this a ban on contractors? There has been further government focus on consultancy and contractor spend. We have significantly reduced our contractor spend in the previous financial year in line with Te Kawa Mataaho/Public Service Commission guidance. Any new contractors or consultants will need to be signed off by two ELT members.
10. Will this impact on our vision of thriving whānau? ELT is confident we can continue to deliver for whānau. We have amazing people working on this kaupapa, we will adapt and will do it as a team.

11. Will there be more cost savings coming? We are likely to have to adapt in the future, but we will rise to the challenge, and we have been here before.
12. How will staff be updated about any changes or further savings? ELT will continue to update all kaimahi via weekly pānui and Manager's Brief, Te Pū Matua and via Directors.

All-kaimahi hui - a change in government

Dave's korero at yesterday's all-kaimahi hui gave us all a good understanding of the immediate next steps and of possible changes for the Ministry under a new government.

The results from the election are now known, and while counting of the special votes won't be completed until 3 November, it seems clear that we, as a government agency, will be supporting a centre right government made up of the National and Act parties, and possibly NZ First.

Whether a combination of arrangements including formal coalition through to confidence and supply, the final composition of the incoming government will be a result of negotiations between the above-mentioned parties.

Dave reiterated that as one of Aotearoa New Zealand's oldest government agencies our resilience comes in large part from our ability to stay connected to our purpose of 'building an Aotearoa New Zealand where whānau can all stand, thrive and belong'.

"We have a history of resilience and have proven many times we can successfully adapt to the environment in which we have to operate within."

For the Ministry right now, we are in a holding pattern, under a caretaker government while those negotiations continue. Our Ministers are still our Ministers until a formal transition of power occurs.

Dave expects to meet with the new Minister for Māori Development once they are appointed, to discuss the new government's priorities. He also expects there will be a strong focus on delivery.

The three parties currently negotiating to form a new government mentioned in their pre-election campaigns a keen focus on public sector spending and performance. We can anticipate they will take a close look at the size and capability of agencies, including Te Puni Kōkiri.

"I mentioned earlier that we needed to find 2% savings - $11 million from our baseline per annum, which we have achieved," says Dave.

A 10-point-plan on cost saving measures focuses primarily on contractors and consultants, recruitment, travel, large hui. However, there is an expectation that the public sector will be asked to find additional savings.

"I anticipate that we, along with the rest of the public sector, will be expected to find a further 6.5-8% additional savings.

"Unfortunately, this is likely to have an impact on staff numbers," says Dave.

However, he and ELT will continue to focus on vacancies and attrition to find the savings required.

Dave expects the new government will focus on delivery, including developing targets that public service agencies will be expected to meet, under a 'value for money' framework.

"I will continue to look at what we are doing and how we are doing it. Our work on the IPP Te Puni Kōkiri work programme provides an opportunity to quickly identify where we can prioritise, and where we can make savings."

Dave encouraged kaimahi that may have any suggestions on how we can save money or contribute to longer term financial sustainability to please pass them up through people leaders, speak directly to your director, or any of the ELT members.

In closing, Dave promised to have further all-kaimahi hui to ensure everyone was kept informed and up to date with progress as best as possible. The next one is likely to be soon after he has met with the new Minister for Māori Development.

"Ideally, I would like to give you firm details now, however, the best I can do is let you know what I know, and where I think we are going.

"These are challenging times, and can bring angst, but with those challenges comes opportunity.

"We are resilient. Stay connected. Together we will endure. Ehara tāku toa i te toa takitahi, engari he toa takitini," Dave reiterated.

Dave answered a range of pātai from kaimahi right across the motu. Some of them are summarised below:

Is there a change process or plan being discussed?

The first step is to meet with the new Minister and understand the government's priorities.

Will we be cutting services, lift and shift, and how will this impact kaimahi supporting cyclone affected communities?

The Māori Development Act 1991 gives Te Puni Kōkiri a clear mandate, and a Cabinet Directive issued in 2019 repositions Te Puni Kōkiri for strategic impact, with seven key focus areas. These two documents create a solid foundation for our legislated roles and responsibilities. However, there is no new money so we may be expected to deliver the same with less or deliver things differently. Regarding cyclone affected communities, I would think any government would continue to support recovery efforts.

How can kaimahi support ELT?

We all know our purpose and vision, and we all want to be here to achieve our priorities. We are here to serve the government of the day so if we are asked to shift focus then that is what we will do. That may mean letting go of some old projects. We need to be prepared to shift.
